The society takes the form practically of an employment agency, and has placed upon its list women who are qualified for household marketing, cake and dessort making, faney cooking and bread making, sending lunches to downtown offices, marking household timen, furnishing servants, giving riding lessons, reading with and nursing invalids, walking with children, note writing, shopping, housekeeping, etc.

The society will also endeaver to obtain for owners whose circumstances have been reduced a fair price for any articles of Jace, jewelry, china, glass, old gold and sliver, furniture, which they may happen to possess.

Mrs. Inglehart, the president, has announced that the society will be glad to hear from all ladies who can furnish impleyment along the lines indicated above, and will also be happy to furnish any assistance in its power to women whose circumstances have been reduced through loss of their employment.

The Husbands' Wail.

The Husbands' Wail.

The Chicago Record-Herald, of recent date, makes a moving appeal for the forsaken society men of that city who stay at home and nurse their sorrows, while their wives are enjoying life at the numerous committee meetings and philanthropic fads which engross them.

The husbands have turned their anguished feelings into fairly good verse, which they sing to their bables to while away the wife and mother's absence. The song runs thus: song runs thus:

Oh, wives of our bosom, come home to us now.

The clock in the steeple strikes six. The fires are all out, the house is so cold. And your husbands are in a bad fix.

Like old "Mother Hubbard" of nursery fame. We've hunted pantry and cupboard for meat.

For bread or for butter, cold pancakes or "spuds."
Or for anything decent to eat.

You doubtless are having a glorious time, With cake and ice cream at command, While your husbands are weestling with cold bread and milk, Or a sandwich, if such is at hand,

Have compassion upon us, we want some thing to eat. Please remember that life's not all foam.

We are cold, we are hungry, we are lonely and sad.
Oh, wives of our bosom, come home.

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Prof. Charles Ellot Norton.

No. 126.

I Remember, I Remember.

By HOOD.

This poem by Thos. Hood, born in London, 1799, and died 1815, is almost as well known as his "Bridge of Sighs," which has already appeared.

I REMEMBER, I remember The house where I was born,

The little window where the sun Came peeping in at morn, He never came a wink too soon, Nor brought too long a day; But now I often wish the night Had borne my breath away!

I remember, I remember The roses, red and white, The violets, and the lily cups--Those flowers made of light! The lilacs where the robin built, And where my brother set The laburnum on his birthday-The tree is living yet!

I remember, I remember Where I was used to swing, And thought the air must rush as fresh To swallows on the wing: My spirit flew in feathers then, That is so heavy now, And summer pools could hardly cool The fever on my brow!

I remember, I remember The fir trees dark and high; I used to think their slender tops Were close against the sky. It was a childish ignorance,

But now it's little joy To know I'm farther off from heaven Than when I was a boy.

has already gone into its second edi-

The Rev. George House, of St. Ann's Bay, Jamarca, who is in Richmond to solicit help for the mission work in Jamarca, erippied and almost destroyed by the cyclone of last August, has aroused much sympathy. Mr. House's heart is in his work and his intelligence and culture make a most favorable impression on all who meet him.

The Woman's Club is the center of pleasantness during Lenten afternoons. Tea is served every afternoon and a group of ladies in the reading room and parlors discuss many subjects of interest in connection with society, current ovents and literature.

If one desires to be both entertained and instructed, there is no better place to graffly such desires than the Woman's Club rooms in March.

MYSTERY LURKING

IN A TELESCOPE

The Virginia Passenger and Power Company is holding a piece of property at the Reservoir end of the Main Street line that is not needed in their business, and they would like to have the lawful owner to call for the same.

The property consists of a modern hand trunk, known as a telescope, and about one hundred pounds of worthless stone. The mysterious package was placed on the front end of one of the new "Pullman" cars a few evenings ago by an unknown man in Fulton, who said in would follow it to Reservoir Park. He did not get on at the rear platform of that car or any other so far as any-body knows. When the car reached the park end of the line Conductor Turner handled the telescope with great care, for he had conceived the idea that the thing contained dynamite.

The Virginia Passenger and Power to support to the subcommittee, to whom they were referred. These range all the way from $20,000 to $27,000, and the low-way from $20,000 to $25,000, and the low-way from
